WELCOME TO FLAME Model G20

Welcome to FLAME Model G20 Summit 2026, to be held at FLAME University, Pune.

This immersive experience fosters a deep understanding of global interdependence and the transformative potential of consensus-based diplomacy and collaborative problem-solving.

The Model G20 Initiative is a premier educational simulation for high school and university students, offering a dynamic immersion into the world of international diplomacy and multilateral cooperation. By replicating the annual G20 Summit, it provides a powerful platform for students, educators, and professionals to engage with pressing global challenges and co-create innovative solutions.

Participants explore critical issues such as global economic stability, climate change, sustainable development, international trade, and digital governance; reflecting the comprehensive agenda of the G20, a forum representing over 85% of global GDP, 75% of world trade, and two-thirds of the global population.

In today's interconnected world, global governance is shifting towards agile, consensus-driven models, exemplified by the G20's strategic collaboration among top economies, rather than the UN's majority-vote approach. Model G20 embodies this modern paradigm, offering a compelling alternative to Model UN. It emphasises real-world diplomatic practices: engaging participants in dual negotiation tracks, promoting high-stakes diplomacy, and prioritising strategic negotiation, coalition-building, and consensus-based decision-making.

Participants gain hands-on experience by drafting communiqués, navigating diplomatic pressure and nuanced language negotiations, responding to crisis simulations, and learning to balance national interests with the common good. Beyond the simulation, they benefit from expert-led workshops, keynote speakers (including diplomats, global institution leaders, and academics), and professional networking opportunities.
